About the Department:

The Department of Anthropology at Panjab University, Chandigarh is a well-established and internationally known department in the field of Anthropology ever since its inception in 1960 by the distinguished scholar (Late) Professor S.R.K. Chopra, FNA, as its founder head. The Department has been awarded as the UGC Centre of Advanced Study (Phase-II). The Department is well known for the notable primate fossils discoveries from the Siwaliks. The unique and nationally acclaimed 'SRK Chopra Museum of Man' in the Department has a Living Primate Gallery, Human Evolution Gallery, Ethnographic gallery & Pre-Proto Historic Gallery.

Mission/Vision of the Department:

The mission of the Department of Anthropology at Panjab University, Chandigarh is to promote the study of human species in a holistic way. Anthropology studies the human species from an integrative and interdisciplinary perspective focusing on biology, evolutionary history, socio-cultural and linguistic diversity. The primary task of the department is to provide an excellent education through outstanding teaching and conducting cutting-edge research in the international scenario.

Benefits of the course:

Anthropologists undertake ethnographic, archival, archaeological, and human biological research on the varied aspects of individual and collective experience in all time periods and parts of the world. Consequently, there is a lot of scope for research and development in these fields. It also promotes a holistic understanding of human life right from studying our own existence i.e. human evolution, diverse histories, societies, cultures, biology and genetics among the world and its people.
